Even back in the 18th century, French poet Honoré de Balzac wrote that a keen observer can always gain a sense of who he or she is dealing by glancing at that person's shoes.

While this may not be quite as easy any more in our age of sneakers, loafers and the used look, one factor still applies:

„Well-kept shoes simply bring more brilliance to their wearer's personality.“

Shoes complete and individualise our appearance – and they convey messages. Clean footwear conveys an appreciation of one's fellows and the situation at hand.

This has been our philosophy for more than 100 years. HEUTE shoe shine machines safeguard values and look after your good style.
